Clinical Audit Awareness Week (CAAW) Pack
19th-23rd November 2018
#CAAW18

Further to feedback from previous CAAW, we (N-QI-CAN) are taking a more active approach to the week this year and working in partnership alongside other organisations such as Healthcare Quality Improvement Partnership (HQIP), NHS Improvement (NHSI), NHS England (NHSE), Clinical Audit Support Centre (CASC), Healthcare Quality Quest (HQQ), Q community (Q) & National Audit Providers to ensure the week is effective in promoting clinical audit as a quality improvement tool for improving patient care.

Part of our approach is encouraging you as members of our clinical audit / QI networks across England to undertake activities within your organisation during CAAW. This pack contains resources and links/photos/tweets of actual examples to provide ideas of what others have done and what you could do in your own organisation.

It's not just down to you… the regional clinical audit network chairs who make up NQICAN will be active during the week supporting their regions and highlighting activity via the NQICAN forum and Twitter.

This pack is not just for CAAW – it can be used at any time of the year as it is really important for clinical audit & other QI professionals to promote our work and successes along with the support that is available.

I would like to thank everyone who has already shared and thus helped us produce this pack – hopefully you might see yourself in the pack – in particular I’d like to thank NQICAN members Marina Otley and Sarah Chessell.

We will be releasing further updates/resources/competitions and signposting nearer the date – so this e-pack will be updated accordingly providing a one-stop place to find everything you need.

I’m looking forward to working together to make this the best CAAW yet. Remember to share your plans/events on the NQICAN forum or on twitter - use #CAAW18

Many thanks

Press Release

Audit week highlights Richard’s hidden heroes
A department that works quietly behind the scenes to improve patient care and safety at Cambridge University Hospitals will be thrust into the limelight this month.
Between 20 and 24 November the Clinical Audit team is to partake in National Clinical Audit Awareness Week, which enables trusts to showcase best practice and encourages greater collaboration.
The nine-strong team is marking the week with an invitation to colleagues from other trusts to join a dedicated training day at Addenbrooke’s on 20 November supported by experts in the field.

CityCare’s first Clinical Audit Competition

We are pleased to announce the winner of CityCare’s first Clinical Audit Competition is: Rehabilitation and Falls Audit led by Marie Mars (Clinical Specialist Nurse – Falls and Bone Health).

The winning project was chosen by a vote on 21st November 2017.

Information about the project was on display alongside the runner-up project, UNIFIBF Baby Friendly Initiative Clinical Audit led by Pip Attkinson (Specialist Health Visitor for Infant Nutrition).

Congratulations to all those involved in both of these excellent clinical audit improvement projects.

Welcome!

Welcome to the first issue of what we hope to be a regular newsletter for CityCare staff all about clinical effectiveness activity.

For information or support about clinical effectiveness please get in touch with us. Hope you enjoy this issue!

Marina Olley and Liz Branson

This newsletter is being launched during Clinical Audit Awareness Week (20th – 24th November 2017), which is a national week of activities to promote clinical audit. Clinical Audit Awareness Week is in its fifth year and is led by the Healthcare Quality Improvement Partnership. To find out more go to www.hqip.org.uk

What is “clinical effectiveness”?

Clinical effectiveness means using the best available knowledge to deliver care that works for patients.

- In CityCare our main clinical effectiveness activities are:
  - Clinical audit improvement projects
  - Peer reviews
  - NICE Guidance Implementation
  - Local clinical policies and guidance

4.2 Check out the CASC Junior Doctor Clinical Audit Competition (link)

In 2010 CASC set up our annual junior doctor clinical audit awards and these have proved to be a huge success. So much so, that we extended the awards to include Quality Improvement Projects (i.e. projects that do not measure against standards). Over the last 8 years we have had over 1,000 entries and some fantastic examples of audits and QI projects that have made a difference. Previous winners have been shortlisted for HSJ Awards, had their work published in academic journals and gone on to work for NHS Improvement! The format for 2018 is much the same as in previous years and we invite entries for the 2 categories: clinical audit projects and quality improvement projects. All entries must reach us by 3 September 2019 and we will shortlist finalists in the subsequent 2 weeks. You can see the posters created by all previous winners via the CASC website and we encourage you to pass this information onto any juniors that you work with. To find out more and to access the entry forms for 2018, please click here.

Pleased to hear that a JPUH audit by Dr Tim Easton on Paediatric Headaches has been selected for the @cascleicester Junior Doctor Clinical Audit Awards competition! Good luck to him in the awards which will be announced on 21st Nov.

4.4 Highlight clinical audit results to your patients

National Ophthalmology Database Audit, published July 2017

The Royal Free demonstrated above national average performance for percentage of patients for whom preoperative visual acuity is recorded

In addition the hospital is not identified as an outlier for posterior capsular rupture (PCR). PCR is a primary indicator of surgical quality because it results in a significantly higher risk of harm to the eye and may impact recovery of vision.

National Emergency Laparotomy Audit, published October 2017

The Royal Free achieved the top ‘green’ rating for 2 out of 10 RAG rated key process measures:

- Consultant surgeon present in theatre when risk of death is greater than or equal to 5%
- Final Case Ascertainment

The hospital also has the lowest mortality rate in north central London

National Hip Fracture Database (NHFD), published September 2017

The Royal Free demonstrated excellence in the quality of care provided to patients with hip fractures with performance in the upper quartile range nationally for 5 measures of best practice:

- Perioperative medical assessment
- Proportion of arthroplasties which are cemented
- Intertrochanteric fractures (excl. reverse oblique) treated with sliding hip screw (SHS)
- Subtrochanteric fractures treated with an IM nail
- Overall hospital length of stay (days)

The hospital has the 2nd lowest length of stay in London

National Joint Registry, published June 2017 (Consultant-level data) and September 2017 (National audit report)

- The Royal Free achieved the top ‘green’ rating for 90 day mortality and revision rates for both hips and knees, as well as consent rate and linkability
- Performance is as expected for all patient reported improvement measures for both hips and knees

5.3 Join the NQICAN Networking and Sharing Forum (link)

NQICAN Networking & Sharing Forum (NNSF)

A site for the collaboration & sharing of clinical audit & other QI resources

Membership extended

Following the success of the first phase of our NNSF rollout - the membership has now been extended to include improvement experts working in Royal colleges, academia, non-NHS healthcare providers and people with an interest in CA & other QI from outside England in addition to our original NHS staff & network members.

Why should I join the NNSF?

- Help & Peer support
- NQICAN / regional network updates
- Sharing / signposting of resources
- Common goal of improving patient care

Join here: http://forum.nqican.org.uk/

Who are we? N-QI-CAN (National Quality Improvement & Clinical Audit Network) is an independent body working collaboratively across our 14 regional clinical audit/QI/CE networks linking with national clinical audit and other quality improvement bodies. We meet on a face to face basis four times a year. Budget of £22K per annum from NHS England. None of our members or regional chairs receive any remuneration for their time other than their salary for their day jobs (NQICAN’s chair host organisation receives funding for 2 days a month from NHSE)
